Short description of project idea:

Our company employs about 2.700 people including about 120 apprentices as ...

business economists

electronic technicians

industrial mechanics

mechatronics technicians

For these young people (between 18-25 years) we are searching for internships in companies in an english speaking country. After approximately one and half year of work experience in our company we would like to offer the opportunity to experience and work for an english-speaking company. This offer should only be for the best apprentices ñ as a kind of incentive. We can ensure that these apprentices would have good job-related and english-speaking skills.

If a company has the possibility to offer internships we would appreciate to establish an exchange for young apprentices/work-starters eventually every year - so that our best apprentices can experience work in this company for maybe about one month and also the other way around. If a company (preferable on the energy sector but not necessary) could imagine to develop such an exchange-program or at least to offer some internships we would like to get in touch with them to clarify details.
